THE WORKMAN'S CORNER.

This column will be devoted to the interests of the working man as outlined by our Waukegan correspondent.

UNEQUAL DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH.
That there is an unequal adjustment of wealth of this country is an acknowledged fact, and the basis of very many speculations as to the cause. The following newspaper paragraph sets forth, in brief, how some of its wealth is distributed, while it leaves the reader at loss to clearly understand how it happens that the services of a committee member can be so valuable.

ADD TO PULLMAN INVENTORY
FEE OF $10,000 FOR ATTENDING ONE RAILROAD MEETING GIVEN TO THE STATE.

Robert T. Lincoln and Norman B. Ream, executors of the estate of the late George M. Pullman, filed their second additional inventory to the estate as follows:

Union Pacific, Denver and Gulf railway organization committee. Proportion of fee for services of George M. Pullman as member of said committee, fee for himself, as having attended one meeting, and for Mr. Ream, his successor, fixed at $20,000, of which Mr. Ream allows one-half to the estate.

That but a passing comment is made by less than 50 per cent of ordinary readers, proves how powerful and interested the people are in such matters. But if a railroad crew objects to working for a more or less time, after a "run" is made, in switching cars of their train, to save expense of another crew to the company, a discharge is liable to happen or a strike follows.

Then attention of the public is riveted on the result. Not long since it was currently reported that during the civil war the government was indebted to the Vanderbilt to an amount, the interest of which resulted in a sum of over $300 per minute. Confirmatory of the above some well informed mathematicians has computed this excessive wealth in the following comprehensive form: "If Adam had worked 400 days each year, from the day he was created to the present time, at a salary of $50 a day, he would not have earned by this time as much property as is owned today by Vanderbilt or Rockefeller."

When it is taken into account that the railroad indebtedness of this country is in the neighborhood of $3,000,000,000, it is simply astounding how such fortunes can be made and yet pay the interest accruing on such a vast sum.

For the face of it it looks as though a readjustment of this business should be made—notwithstanding there is a preconcerted effort being made by railroad managers, under the plea of necessity, for an increase of tariff on all schedules, claiming that they are too low. Does not the fact alone prove the earning capacity of the working class of this country, under favorable conditions, and this one of many, and why is it so difficult to overcome the situation or condition?

If from any cause a man is "let out" of employment it is difficult for him to secure other work within a reasonable time. Hence the demand on the part of labor unions for an eight-hour day, in order that more men may be employed, and possibly, one cause why they wish to restrict the amount of product within a prescribed time.

As heretofore intimated, it is believed that judicious legislation on the subject is a better way to solve these troublesome questions than by strikes or lockouts.

When these questions are agitated, as they will be in a political canvass, their merits will be argued by the people of all parties and classes. It did not take Congress long to decide the case of Roberts, although the law was on his side. Nor has the country taken alarm at the proceedings, unlawful as they undoubtedly were in this particular case. A striking contrast to the situation in Kentucky, and what brought about this condition but the pressure brought by the people of all parties and classes? In the latter case it seems to be a question between a conspiring legislature, under color of law, as against an election by a majority of the people. This condition suggests a thought on the quality of modern legislation.

At the present time, unknown in former days, candidates for the next general assembly are being self-anointed, and under present political rules one or the other is likely to secure the delegation. All you'll have to do afterward is to vote for one or two as you like. In other words, you have no choice, unless you attend the primaries. Legislation that you may think necessary is beyond your reach, and so it goes on from term to term, nobody to blame but yourself.

As to the quality of legislation being enacted these days, among others of like character, it is reported of an Iowa legislature that it passed a law for a trial justice of the peace to serve out his own sentence of fine and imprisonment in the case of a drunkard being found guilty. It is believed by many that candidates should be committed to carry out, as far as possible, such ideas as the people desire.

It is plainly apparent that an eight-hour day is demanded. It is plain that restrictive legislation regarding "trusts" should be enacted if it can be done legally. It is believed that the tax accruing from the inheritance tax law should apply to a worthy, indigent old people who, during a long and industrious life time, in part, contributed to this wealth, and should therefore succeed to its benefits, rather than be returned to the general fund and thus less on the taxes of the rich.

While there is no interesting news to record from this side of the county, there is none the less a strong undercurrent of a political tinge, that is being watched by the knowing ones. A high old time is expected at the time of electing delegates to the Woodstock convention March 8. That there will be a big strife in selecting delegates for rival candidates is in sight. Already all the livery rigs in town are secured.

THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

A Phenomenal Success in Attendance and Interest.

The second annual meeting of the Lake County Farmers' Institute, which was held at the opera house in this city on Friday and Saturday last, was without doubt one of the best and most helpful public meetings ever held in this section of the state.

Friday morning despite bad roads when the gavel fell to call the meeting to order the hall was comfortably filled, and before the noon hour had arrived but few vacant seats were visible in the large room of the opera house. The morning program was opened with prayer by Rev. E. J. Aikin, followed by an address of welcome on behalf of the town board, by City Clerk J. C. James, Jr., who in presenting to the visitors the freedom of the city made some happy allusions to the fact that it was not a political meeting, and the big key which he handed to President Holcomb he said would unlock everything in town except the "cooler" the door of which he said the town officers had nailed up so that no one could break in.

On behalf of the institute President Holcomb responded in a few remarks and at once introduced Prof. W. J. Henry, of the Wisconsin Agricultural College, who spoke at some length, taking as his subject "Agricultural Education." In the course of his remarks the Professor gave many interesting facts and figures connected with the agricultural colleges both of Illinois and Wisconsin, showing the benefit the state derived from them and the almost incalculable benefit the colleges were to thousands of young men who wished to make an honorable and honest livelihood upon the farm. At the close of Prof. Henry's remarks an adjournment was taken for dinner and the meeting again convened at 1:15 with Prof. Henry on the question of "Stock Feeding," which was illustrated by charts showing the nutriment of the different kinds of food for stock and was one of the most helpful and interesting addresses ever delivered in this part of the state. For nearly three hours the Professor held the crowd which at that time packed all available space in the room and was most attentively listened to by all, and were it not for the fact that the Professor had to leave on the early evening train it is doubtful if the audience would have let him off the platform until night.

The subject of "Farm Industries" was taken up by Mrs. Steenberg, of Chicago, who had a very interesting paper on the subject, which was a pleasing part of the afternoon program.

The evening session was called to order at 7:30 with fully 500 persons present, the first on program being a solo by S. M. Spafford, which literally brought down the house and produced an encore. Next on program was a recitation by Miss Effie Didama which was exceptionally good and heartily applauded. Next on program came a solo by S. M. Hungerford, which was highly appreciated and heartily encored. Next came an address by Rev. E. J. Aikin, taking for his subject "The Farmers' Home." His remarks were along the broad line of helpful home management and were truly grand in sentiment and delivery, and if carried out in our farm and city homes would keep the boys and girls from seeking employment among the strangers and falling into the pitfalls and snares too often laid for unwary feet. Next on program was a solo by S. M. Spafford, which like the one preceding it, was heartily encored. This was followed by a recitation by Miss Harriette Chinn which was highly appreciated and appropriate to the occasion. The next was an address by T. J. Van Mater, of Fayette, Wis., entitled "Sixty Years Behind the Plow," which literally carried the house by storm and established the reputation of Mr. Van Mater as an orator and humorist far excellence, his remarks containing much food for reflection and being most pleasing throughout. Prof. Grinnell, who came in at the close of his music class recital, favored the audience with a solo which was a most pleasing and unexpected feature of the program of the evening. Miss Lella Williams also sang a solo which was highly appreciated by those present, after which an adjournment was taken until ten o'clock Saturday morning.

SATURDAY MORNING SESSION.

The meeting was called to order and opened with prayer by Rev. E. J. Aikin, followed by a solo by S. M. Spafford. Next on program was a paper by De Witt Stanton, "The dairy cow," in which Mr. Stanton made some timely suggestions in the care and management of the dairying and general purpose cow. The next in order was a paper on "Sheep Husbandry," by R. G. Murrie, of Russell, in which many good points were made for this branch of farming. A solo by S. M. Hungerford was the next pleasing feature of the program, followed by a talk on "The Farmers' Needs in Legislation," by States Attorney Heydecker, of Waukegan, in which Mr. Heydecker made some very good points and showed many things that could be done in legislation to help the farmers and others. An adjournment for dinner was then taken to 1:30.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

First on program came election of officers, the following being elected for the ensuing year: President, Ralph Christensen, Gurnee; Vice President, H. J. Nelson, Lake Villa; Secretary, J. J. Burke, Antioch; Treasurer, H. B. Pierce, Antioch. The delegates elected to attend the Illinois Farmers' Institute at Mt. Vernon were as follows: H. D. Hughes, I. R. Webb, A. N. Tiffany, Alternates, J. J. Burke, C. E. Blunt, R. G. Murrie.

President Holcomb presented the following resolution which was unanimously adopted:

Realizing the good accomplished through the influence and practical teachings of the Farmers' Institutes of the State of Illinois and of other states, be it

Resolved, That we here assembled do petition the Honorable Board of Supervisors that they make appropriation of $150 and place at the disposal of the executive board of the Lake County Farmers' Institute to further the work, in procuring speakers and making our county institute financially sound.

The secretary presented the following which was adopted by a unanimous rising vote:

Whereas, In the death of Charles J. Lindemann, late director of the 7th Congressional District of the Illinois Farmers' Institute, the farmers of Illinois have lost a valuable member of society and one ever active in furthering the interests of the farmer, therefore be it Resolved, That the Lake County Farmers' Institute in convention, do hereby extend to the family of the late Charles J. Lindemann, our most sincere sympathy in the hour of their sorrow.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the family of the said Charles J. Lindemann, attested by the president and secretary.

After President Holcomb had paid a feeling tribute to the memory of his friend, Charles J. Lindemann, the regular work of the session was taken up with an address by Rev. W. S. Goode, who took for his subject, "Education of the Farmers' Boy." The address of Rev. Goode was along the practical lines of education and an eloquent plea for better schools, better methods, better books, better homes and better advantages for the farmers' boys if you wish to keep him on the farm and make him a useful member of society and we wish that everyone could hear, and hearing profit by his eloquent plea of giving the farmer boy a chance.

A pleasing feature of the afternoon program and one wholly unexpected, was a selection or two from the Antioch drum corps assisted by Oliver Allen of Pleasant Prairie, and Chet Allen of Lake Villa. H. N. Maxham, of Diamond Lake, was called upon and gave a very interesting talk on hog raising, answering a number of questions and imparting a fund of valuable information. H. D. Hughes was called upon and gave a talk on the "Silk," having previously given an interesting and instructive talk on the dairy cow, showing what he had done with his herd of cows, proving his statements by records kept for a year. His remarks were a revelation to many farmers and dairymen who had heretofore supposed they knew how to run a dairy successfully. Several other volunteered short talks and one of the most successful farmers' institutes ever held in this part of the country closed at four p.m. with an average attendance estimated at fully 500 persons, most of whom were actively engaged in farming.

Destitution and deaths from starvation are on the increase in the famine-stricken district of India in spite of the gigantic efforts for relief made by the Government. The State is now feeding 4,000,000 natives. With no probability of relief through the crops inside of four months and with the Government already taxed to its utmost, it can be seen that the conditions are alarming.

GEN. LAWTON AT REST.

SERVICES OVER REMAINS OF HONORED DEAD.

Tribute by Dr. Stryker—Well-Known Clergyman Delivers an Eloquent Address—President McKinley, His Cabinet and Other Officials Attend.

Minj. Gen. Henry W. Lawton was buried Friday in the National Cemetery at Arlington. The services at the grave were preceded by those at the Church of the Covenant in Washington, where President McKinley, Mr. Stryker of Hamilton College, New York, delivered a funeral oration that has seldom been equaled in beauty of expression nor could it have been in more perfect accord with the spirit of the solemn occasion that called it forth.

Never in the history of the capital has there been a more representative gathering of the nation's official life to pay a last tribute to the nation's honored dead. No mark of military pomp and ceremony that the regulations could provide was wanting to render the occasion solemn and impressive. Nearly all the available troops of the regular establishment remaining in this country were called out. Three thousand men, infantry, cavalry and artillery, followed the flag-draped caisson to the grave.

But were official formalities were dwarfed beside the deep popular demonstration that the burial of the dead soldier called forth. Every department of the Government paid its official tribute. Flags hung at half-mast. The President and his cabinet, representatives of the Supreme Court, of the House and Senate and of the army and navy, all combined to fill the darkened church to its utmost.

But these official representatives of the people were lost in the great crowds that surrounded the church and lined the streets along which the procession passed. Lawton was to the people the ideal American soldier whose exploits in four wars made his name a household word and who, being a soldier first and only, died in the line of duty, leaving nothing to his children but the heritage of an honorable name.

R. W. THOMPSON IS DEAD.

Long Career of Indiana's Grand Old Man Is Closed.

Col. Richard W. Thompson, ex-Secretary of the Navy, died at his home in Terre Haute, Ind. His doctor said the patient's brain was paralyzed.

For more than half a century Richard W. Thompson had been prominent in political life. Although he was more than 90 years old, he was a delegate to the national Republican convention four years ago, and was chairman of the State Republican convention in Indiana the same year. He had seen and talked to every President of the United States except George Washington and John Adams. He sat in Congress with John Quincy Adams, Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, Lincoln, Douglas, Calhoun and Jefferson Davis. He served in the Indiana Legislatures of 1834, 1835 and 1836, presided over the State Senate from 1838 to 1840, went to Congress in 1841, for the first time. He was Secretary of the Navy under President Hayes.

MANY AT GOEBEL'S FUNERAL.

Grief and Threats Commingle While Crowds Wait in the Rain.

More than 10,000 Kentuckians followed the body of William Goebel to the grave in Frankfort cemetery and stood with bared heads in the pouring rain while J. C. S. Blackburn, the white-haired Senator, and "Good Luck" Beckham told them the story of their leader's devotion and besought them to remain faithful to his doctrines. Curses for the assassin were mingled with the sobs of the men who stood about the tomb, and only the restraining eloquence of the orators subdued the reverent passions of the crowd and prevented the armed mob from transforming into an army of retaliation.

The ceremonies were conducted from the steps of the cemetery chapel. A quartet sang "It Is Well with My Soul," the Rev. William Stanley of Virginia delivered a prayer, Mrs. Jessie Caldwell sang and Senator Blackburn and Mr. Beckham spoke.

On Tuesday the Senate passed from Mr. Aldrich amendment to pending financial bill providing that its passage shall not stand in the way of united action for international binationalism at any future time. Also an amendment from Mr. Jones of Arkansas providing for an emergency treasury note fund of $60,000,000, which may be issued to any citizen at 10 per cent discount in exchange for United States bonds. Hearl Senator Caffery in opposition to retention of the Philippines and Senator Butler in opposition to North Carolina's suffrage amendment. Adopted conference report on the urgent deficiency bill. The House adopted the conference report on the urgency deficiency bill, and resumed debate on diplomatic and consular bill, Messrs. Gibson of Tennessee, Morris of Minnesota and William Alden Smith of Michigan speaking for expansion, and Williams of Mississippi, Nebraska and Cockran of Missouri against it, while H. C. Smith of Michigan championed the cause for all Boers. Mr. Williams held that the absorption of the Philippines by the United States would be ruinous to the American producers of cotton, rice, tobacco, hemp and sugar.

The feature of Wednesday in the Senate was a tilt between Messrs. Dewey and Pettigrew over a letter from President Schurman of the Philippine commission, read by the New Yorker, daily delivering a statement by the South Dakota Senator during debate some time ago that he (Schurman) "had tried to bribe the insurgents and failed." Senators Bates, Turner and Allen spoke against the financial bill and Mr. Vest offered an amendment providing that the Secretary of the Treasury shall have prepared $200,000,000 of treasury notes, to be known as "bond treasury notes," which shall be full legal tender for all debts and which shall be loaned by the Secretary of the Treasury to anybody who may deposit United States bonds for them, the note to bear the same interest as the bonds deposited. The House passed diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, carrying $3,433,905, substantially as it came from committee. Indulged in desultory discussion of Philippine question and war in South Africa. Principal feature being speech by Mr. Sharfrot in favor of mediation in South Africa under provisions of The Hague treaty.

The Senate spent Thursday in discussion of the financial bill. Mr. Allen concluded his speech, charging the Republican party with breaking faith with the people on binationalism and systematically discrediting the work of the international binational commission. Mr. Cookrell made a technical analysis of the House and Senate measures. He charged that the Senate substitute contained the initial movement toward the perpetuation of the national debt. In the House only minor business was transacted. The ways and means committee bill establishing tariff rates upon goods from Porto Rico into the United States and vice versa was reported and Chairman Payne gave notice that the bill would be called up the next Thursday.

As no Senator was prepared to proceed with a discussion of the finance measure the Senate transacted only routine business on Friday and adjourned early to enable members to attend the obsequies of Gen. Lawton. A bill was passed to erect a public building at Deadwood, S. D., to cost $200,000. After a brief session at which no business was transacted a recess was taken in the House until 8 p. m. The night session was devoted to private pension bills.

In the Senate on Saturday, when there were only a dozen Senators present, a Boer sympathy resolution introduced by Mr. Allen was passed before its purport was realized. A minute later the vote was reconsidered and the resolution went over. The financial debate was continued by Mr. Chandler, who opposed the gold standard and strongly urged the double standard. Mr. Chilton and Mr. Money also spoke. The House was not in session.

Speeches were made in the Senate on Monday on the financial bill by Messrs. Wolcott, Elkins and Butler. Mr. Allen's resolution introduced Saturday expressing sympathy with the Boers went over without

There is no better medicine for the babies than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Its pleasant taste and prompt and effectual cures make it a favorite with mothers and small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds, prevents pneumonia or other serious consequences. It also cures croup and has been used in tens of thousands of cases without a single failure so far as we have been able to learn. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. In cases of whooping cough it liquefies the tough mucus, making it easier to expectorate, and lessens the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, thus depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences. For sale W. H. Emmons, Antioch, and Thomson's pharmacy, Grayslake.
